What is Livingston Educational Service Agency?
Livingston Educational Service Agency (LESA) is a regional service agency that provides a wide variety of services to children, families, and communities in Livingston County. Our mission is to provide quality services and programs that are more effectively or efficiently accomplished through collaboration. We coordinate and operate services and programs with the county's five local school districts, the four public school academies, and twelve private schools, representing approximately 30,000 school age children in Livingston County.

Services include special education programs, professional development, early childhood education, career and technical education, computer services consortium, and transportation.

The Michigan legislature authorized the creation of 57 intermediate school districts in 1962. We changed our name in 1990 to “Educational Service Agency” to more accurately reflect our role in helping districts help students.
